

What do biologists call all the populations of all the species occupying a particular place?

A the biosphere

B a population

C an ecosystem

D a community

A biological community is a complex network of interacting plants, animals, and microorganisms.

Answer D.

Starr·C·01·04 2002-10-23