

What highly indigestible oligosaccharide makes up the bulk of the cell walls of plants?

A Amylose.

B Fructose.

C Cellulose.

D Sucrose.

Cellulose, an oligosaccharide composed solely of glucose subunits, is highly indigestible. It is the main structural material of plants.

Answer C.

Starr C'03'08 2002-10-23