

All amino acids are composed of an amino group, an acid (carboxyl group), and an R group. Which of these varies from one amino acid to the next?

A The amino group.

B The carboxyl group.

C The R group.

Different amino acids have different R groups. All amino acids have identical amino and carboxyl groups.

Answer C.

Starr C'03'12 2002-10-23