

What type of RNA carries protein-building instructions from the DNA in the nucleus of a cell into the cytoplasm?

A tRNA

B rRNA

C mRNA

DNA is transcribed into messenger RNA, which is then translated in the cytoplasm to form a polypeptide.

Answer C.

Starr C'13'04 2002-10-23