

Which choice below best fits in the blank? Generally, gravity-sensing mechanisms are based on ___ which are heavy or dense particles that shift position in response to changes in a cell's orientation in space.

A phytochromes

B cytokinins

C statoliths

D chloroplasts

In plant cells, the statoliths are clusters of starch grains in modified plastids.

Answer C.

Starr C'27'08 2002-10-23