

What do biologists call all the populations of all the species occupying a particular place?

- A the biosphere
- B a population
- C an ecosystem
- D a community

A biological community is a complex network of interacting plants, animals, and microorganisms.

Answer D.