

What highly indigestible oligosaccharide makes up the bulk of the cell walls of plants?

- A Amylose.
- B Fructose.
- C Cellulose.
- D Sucrose.

---

Cellulose, an oligosaccharide composed solely of glucose subunits, is highly indigestible. It is the main structural material of plants.

Answer C.