

All amino acids are composed of an amino group, an acid (carboxyl group), and an R group. Which of these varies from one amino acid to the next?

- A The amino group.
- B The carboxyl group.
- C The R group.

---

Different amino acids have different R groups. All amino acids have identical amino and carboxyl groups.

Answer C.