

What is the mitotic spindle composed of?

- A microtubules
- B microfilaments
- C intermediate filaments

The spindle apparatus consists of two sets of microtubules that extend from opposite cell poles and overlap at the spindle equator.

Answer A.