

The fur of many arctic animals changes color with the season, from dark during the summer to white in the winter. This is an example of a change in which of the following?

- A genotype
- B phenotype
- C pleiotropy
- D epistasis

The genotype of such animals specifies a phenotype that changes seasonally.

Answer B.