

What is cutting the DNA from one organism and combining it with that of another organism called?

- A recombinant DNA technology
- B artificial selection
- C conjugation
- D reverse transcription

In recombinant DNA technology, DNA from one organism is cut out and spliced together (recombined) with the DNA of another organism.

Answer A.