

What term is used to describe a phenotypic difference between the males and females of a species?

- A epistasis
- B sexual dimorphism
- C sexual selection
- D balanced polymorphism

The birds shown here are an example of a sexually dimorphic species.
Answer B.