

Which choice below best fits in the blank? With ___ selection, allele frequencies underlying a range of variation tend to shift in a consistent direction in response to directional change in the environment.

- A sexual
 - B stabilizing
 - C directional
 - D disruptive
-

Kettlewell's experiment with moths is a classic demonstration of directional selection.

Answer C.