

Some organisms fossilize better than others. Which of these marine organisms would be more likely to be found as a fossil millions of years from now?

- A the lionfish
- B the flatworm

Organisms with hard parts are much more likely to leave fossil evidence than are softer-bodied organisms.

Answer A.