

Which choice below best fits in the blank? Generally, gravity-sensing mechanisms are based on ___ which are heavy or dense particles that shift position in response to changes in a cell's orientation in space.

- A phytochromes
  - B cytokinins
  - C statoliths
  - D chloroplasts
-

In plant cells, the statoliths are clusters of starch grains in modified plastids.

Answer C.