

A _____ is a correspondence between a set of input values and a set of output values, where each _____ value determines one _____ value.

- A) function ... output ... input
- B) function ... input ... output
- C) equation ... output ... input
- D) equation ... input ... output

A function is a correspondence between a set of input values and a set of output values, where each input value determines one output value.

Answer B